I want to work for you for free

Hey Ramit,

Love your site, especially the articles about automation and personal entrepreneurship. It's because of you that I have multiple ING Direct accounts for my savings goals, a Roth IRA, automatic contributions, and asset allocation all set up.

I'm a web developer for [Company], a site that gets around 50 million hits per month. I used to do freelance work exclusively, and I'm preparing to make the switch back to doing freelance work ~30 hours / week while I travel and study in China. I work in Ruby on Rails, doing everything from the database to the front-end, and I'm especially good at rapidly prototyping new ideas and projects.

In order to start getting myself back out there, I'd love to have the chance to do some development work for you completely gratis. If you like my work and have some paid projects for me down the road, that'd be great of course, but I'd be happy just for the opportunity to network and receive a little advice. I'm sure you have a project or two in the back of your head that you haven't had time to prototype yourself yet; let me do it for you!

You can give me a call at ###, or find me on Google Talk under this address. You can also check out some samples of my work here: [website]

Thank you!

You can also include thanks for the specific things you feel that you have learned by working under them. Domande finaliThe your third paragraph to make all the additional questions you can have. Provide your non-work e-mail or a good number of contact in case they need to contact us in the future. That is sure to work against you at the end. Injury with a greeting just as you would do in a business letter. But don't resort to deception. Email and email messages for business development of email is a valuable means of communication. They will regularly send e-mails at your name. Constant Contact also believes in the mantra «getting what is measured» as it provides a detailed account of the activity and results. If you are sending an email to a peer with which you are collaborating on a project, be more informal in the greeting. Take the time to thank your employer for their time and effort in training you. Then a bet is obliged. Just as you prepared at school to write a perfect essay, so you have to prepare yourself in the work world to write a business email. There are many things you would like to say, but you should write something clear and concise. By doing this simple preparation step, produce a much more professional writing. Your employer knows this is your resignation email from your object, so don't delude them. This is extremely necessary even if communicated via the office e-mail or on a telephone issued by the company. Emails are easily forwarded. The formal greeting «Dear James» or less formal «Good morning James» sets the e-mail with the desired tone. Sometimes it is better to jump out of the mail string and write a single message to the sender. One of the first places to start capturing interest is to make sure your subject is Substantial to peek interest. A complete contact management system, their e-mail program allows an excellent personalization of a message.
